Fire Alarm Inspections

The Phoenix Group, Inc. provides a full-service fire alarm inspection. We can design, install, and maintain your fire alarm system. Our inspections to your fire alarm systems are completed by professionals. If you require a fire alarm inspection, we have a team of seasoned inspectors that will inspect your network, provide records, and communicate with our office to coordinate any necessary replacements as required.

Outsourcing Your Inspections

The Phoenix Group are experts in fire systems and inspections. The best designed fire alarm system can be rendered ineffective, if improperly maintained. Most facilities find that contracting out this function makes sense. Using certified technicians that specialize in life safety with through knowledge of system installation and life cycle inspection, testing, and maintenance protocols ensures the overall safety of your facilities.

Facility maintenance people usually do not possess the experience and knowledge found in certified expert service technicians like that found in The Phoenix Group. The most stringent standards and guidelines are meaningless unless the people performing the inspection, testing, and maintenance are knowledgeable and qualified to service the fire alarm system.

Fire alarm systems are expected to help protect people, property, and assets. But you can't tell if they're fully operational just by looking at them. With proper testing, inspection, and maintenance you can keep your fire alarm system at optimum operating performance.

For all of your fire alarm and system protection needs turn to The Phoenix Group for assurance that your facilities will always be safe for you and your employees, property, and assets.
